INNOVATE TODAY FOR A SUSTAINABLE TOMORROW

Join Us for ICSDI 2024

The Engineering College of Prince Sultan University cordially invites you to join the 2nd International Conference on Sustainability: Developments and Innovations (ICSDI) in Riyadh, KSA. As a premier scientific event, ICSI 2024 offers a unique platform for researchers, academics, practitioners, and industry experts to present and discuss cutting-edge research, innovative solutions, and best practices in sustainability.

RIYADH

Our conference features a dynamic and informative technical program, showcasing the latest developments and innovations in sustainability across various fields, including engineering, science, technology, and management. As a global platform, ICSIDI 2024 presents unparalleled networking opportunities, connecting you with like-minded individuals, decision-makers, and limitless opportunities.

Join us in Riyadh, KSA, to experience the vibrant scientific community and engage with experts, practitioners, and scholars from around the world. We look forward to welcoming you to ICSIDI 2024 and to advancing the discourse on sustainable development.

Expectation of Attendance

In order to ensure a high-quality technical program, authors of every paper or abstract that has been awarded final acceptance for presentation are expected to attend the conference and present their work. This is a crucial step towards publication in the conference proceedings, which are indexed and widely recognized in the scientific community. Please note that publication in the Scopus indexed conference proceedings is contingent upon both registering for the conference and presenting the full paper. We look forward to seeing you at the conference and sharing your valuable contributions with the wider scientific community.
